The zions got half of the world to MAKE BELIEVE Go(I)d promised some land to some people, and those people defeated a major Army while escaping slavery. That people's hero courageously confronted the meany masters with a name that would be remembered. The hero then lead his flock to a promised land, but was himself denied entry for double-clicking on a rock. He was given some divine commandments (that were copies of carvings on an Egyptian tomb), which he immediately broke. What the zions hid from you was that the people's hero was named after the Pharaohs who drove them out, Khamose and his younger brother, Ahmose - the Moses. It was an Egyptian scribe, Ipuwer, who appearing before the Pharaoh, gave a detailed description of the ruin the Shepherd Kings, the people of the "hero", had caused the land. Claiming the jews made a Great Escape is like claiming Russia blew up Nordstream. The Bible says the jews won against the Moabites, but do you think the Moabite Stele claiming

Moabite victory would have remained standing for tens of centuries had the jews really won? Noweh. The zions described a situation where a man was escaping a city that Go(I)d was going to destroy. The man (really?) was going to give his two virgin daughters to a horde of faggots to be raped in exchange for the safety of two beautiful strangers while the girls' mother stood by in anticipation. The two strangers zapped the advancing funny-boys, which allowed the family to escape. The wife got salty on the way, so the girls and their papa continued on without her. What the zions got the world to believe was that the man, in his emergency panic, brought along enough wine to make him forget the two girls were his daughters and also maintain his erection when he passed out. You might as well add: After hearing of it, Heathens began to drink lots of cheap beer (in hopes...) and were called Hebrews. Lord knows why, but the zions try to MAKE everyone BELIEVE that the best of them are descended from a petty king who arranged his general's death in order to take the general's wife. Then, after killing the king's first born, the Lord forgave the king. The fact is the sacrifice of the first born was common in those days, and it was to the general's God that the king made the sacrifice. His second son celebrated by building a temple. It took 80,000 jewish stone cutters, 70,000 jewish stone porters and 3,600 lebanese supervisors seven years to construct and was (a staggering?) 60 cubits (96 feet) long, 20 cubits (32 feet) wide and 30 cubits (48 feet) high. Wow! (A cubit is roughly 1.6 feet. It is not a football field.) LOL. The king then went on to be one of the central figures of a "Do as I say, not as I do. I'm with thee, but you're not with me (I'm invited, but you are not)." "chosen race".

The zions accredit their "chosen race" with writing a vast number of literary works. What they don't testify to is that much of those works were writing excercises taught to the "chosen race" during and after their captivity in Babylon, the most advanced civilization of its time. (Read Thorkild Jacobsen's "The Harps That Once..." or Benjamin R. Foster's "Before The Muses" among others.) Later, the "chosen race", who by then were populated by many other races who had converted to the "chosen race's" religion, became a "chosen people". They were overrun by the Romans. Because the "chosen people" would not accept Roman dominance, the Romans confiscated every scrap of the "chosen people's" literature for re-editing. (Ever been shot at 'n' missed, shit at 'n' hit? No?) You catch, the Pope will hold its tale (sic). Once upon a time in the West... Having a Happy Day!

While confronting sexual abuse "head on", a zion tries to talk a Tittyhead into oral suction circumcision. "Shouldn't a nun be doing that?"_{Tittyhead} Oh! (jit, jit)... Eewww, that's some Serious Tiberius. Tittyhead's Mom corrects the zion.

The zion is surprised

How 'bout it? by Tittyhead's Mom's rapid forgiveness. (Was that a stick?) For the zion, it's business as usual The zion begs forgiveness Now the zion is gonna "shine a light" on accusations of child sacrifice. Anyway..., it's only a statue. This is how the zions interpret scripture to fool the vast number of people, who followed the guidance of scripture, into being "sheeple". (Circa 325 C.E. the Alexandrian_Flavian_Herodian_Catholics could have worked out all the discrepancies in their texts. They failed to do so (deliberately?). If anyone thinks there are no discrepancies, they have not read the bible. Are you sure a Savior said what the compilers of the bible wrote he said?) To start, they found fault with everyone's way and pumped them with the "good" things about "The Way". They took the phrase "sublime bliss" and enhanced it (and thus their own position in it) to a "Kingdom of Heaven" - a haven of dumb kings. Calling Heaven a Kingdom is like calling the Government into your affairs. The word "Kingdom" causes the teeth to clench. The truth is the rich enjoy Heaven, and the poor suffer Hell for the King. Feeding the fish is one thing, but a man does not fish for fish to feed the fish. So, the zions got others to pay for steak and settle for baloney. To do so, the people were told that patience and long suffering were required to enter the Kingdom of Heaven and were MADE to BELIEVE the steak was on its way, but baloney was available in the meantime.

Hunger caused the people to fill up on the baloney, and eventually they quit expecting the steak.

The people were MADE to BELIEVE they would be happier if they believed without seeing. (Later, they were convinced to see without believing, so certain things could be hidden in plain sight.) Then, the people were told to not look back if they wanted to be fit for the Kingdom of Heaven, which made them afraid to turn around as the zions did whatever behind them. (You are to think, "Get behind me, Satan" so the zions can better position themselves to put their shoes on your shoulders and say sweet little things like, "You would do that for me?", "Don't backslide", or anything to keep you going, while thinking "I just bought your...") People were told it was better to give than receive to freely give without compensation, and they would easily part with their possessions. They were told if they gave to not take anything back, so they could be borrowed from and not repaid. They were told to "leave some behind." They were told the progressive would be sent. Then, they were sent to work by being told the Kingdom of Heaven was like a field (to distract from castles) for which a man would sell everything he owned to possess. (They weren't told to beware false spirits that make things better (affectation) until much later.) The philosophy of, "The working man is closest to God", was changed to, "Beware the working man, for he is worth his meat". They were told a story about a man selling his birthright for a slice of beef so they would beware each other at cookouts. They were told to cut off whichever part of themselves offended them and were made to believe the riches of the zions offended them. To hinder people from being rewarded for what they sow, or themselves from being punished for what they sow, the zions changed, "As ye sow, so ye reap" to "One man sows, another man reaps." Zions stole the people blind while they were busy being happy refusing to see.

To initiate a double standard, the zions told everyone the zions were their shepherd, and the people were not allowed to want. The zions told them all their needs would be taken care of. But, instead of saying, "Be thankful for what you have, and how much more do you need, pig", the zions said "Ask and ye shall receive" and "He who has shall be given more" to help in draining the non-partaking goyim. To ensure the double standard, the zions complained about peoples' souls being in their bellies (so maybe the people would feel guilty about eating and starve themselves to death). After complaining about that and other things (such as people procreating, so they would guit breeding), the zions told them a story that illustrated why complaining about useless eaters earning higher wages was wrong. Someone of "importance" said you were not to tempt him, but you were to flee from temptation and pray he doen not tempt you (propably because he has a bagde, a dun and his permission to use them). Like police training: 1 minute on turning in crooked cops; 59 minutes on covering your buddies ass. "Thou shalt not steal" applies to the those who decreed it, too, or it is vitiated.

The zions bitched about people swallowing at the truth. At the same time, they tried to make people believe that God would swallow at those who were hot or cold, but not those who were luke warm. The people were told they should be God. The people would then swallow at whoever was hot or cold and went to extremes to be swallowed (for the zions' entertainment). They were told to drink blood and eat body. They began to bite at each other. The zions called "having control of one's mouth" "falling into chewing". People were told an un-deafeated (place-foot-here-in) mouth would be given to them to say what the voices in their heads told them to say. They were told they would be given feet that could step on serpents and to be wise as serpents. Try stepping into your underwear, now. They tell us not to retrace our steps so we won't see what we do wrong nor remember what we do right. There's nothing like telling someone to get understanding, then putting your shoes on them.

To keep resistance from banding together, social distancing, er... holding back the truth was disguised as hiding knowledge of being helped. If knowing the truth would set one free, and the truth of being helped was being hidden, then freedom was not granted. The key to zions taking control was to get everyone to fear letting others know they help (themselves). Eventually, everyone would fear letting others know they love, and love would turn to self-isolation and more fear. They would spy on each other and call themselves great for reading (and snitching). Soon after, they would despise each other for being sneaky. All the while, TPTB would step in and play God while eveyone was obeying those instructions in a state of paranoia and self-surveillance. At the same time, people were taught to chant a prayer that helped them (and the zions) presume on forgiveness for trespassing (and taking, er...buying) and talk to others in other's spirit (which is infiltrating them by not being genuinely of your own spirit - presumed familiarity breeds contempt from both sides) along with the "enlightenment" that governments were divinely installed. The PTB could "hold you in their palm" and transform you into a finger-toe puppet. (Nobody can take something from your hands which is really in your foot.) People were instructed (by whom?) to "gather men into their ways" and "turn no man away". Then, their countries were flooded with illiterate welfare recipients and fugitive criminals. (Ask some mexican nuns for details.) Whutju need, mor

People were told they are not to learn the ways of war. When people are admonished not to do something, and there is no enforcement, people will do it to spite authority. Don't touch that millstone. Right? People were told they could not serve two masters, but to render unto (serve) both secular and heavenly lords. Then, as "soldiers", they went out to serve both masters to spite being told they could not, and they were convinced of their own greatness for being everybody's servant. Nowdays, they video themselves sawing their guns in half. Meanwhile:

Ordaining sacred "catch-'em pants down" relics. (Mule breeder: Publicly calling for world peace will get people to carry your military gear for miles.) It was preached that serving money does not serve the Lord, but that one would be reprimanded for not using money to make money. Do you really believe a savior preached against anger, mortally vented his ire on two plebian money collectors (instead of giving them his socks), cursed a fruitless fig tree in his wrath or flipped the tables on his competition in a fit of rage, (talk about not getting one's way and responding with rolled -up sleeves) because you'd burn at the stake if you didn't? If you do, you can make a lot of money trafficking sex and drugs, spend some of that money combating your rivals and claim to be engaged in a war on trafficking. Or, start your own Megachurch.

It was preached look not to the ways of the flesh, but do get your flesh to do justice. It is like getting your neighbor to do something, while claiming to not look to your neighbor. The people were told the flesh is not just a suit, but they should present their bodies as vessels of and make a space for (the representatives of) God. They were then programmed with, "This is my body which shall be given up for you". People humbled themselves with the promise of being exalted and are now easy to "put on".

Everyone was told to "turn the other cheek" and "be dead to sin" to teach them learned helplessness. They were told to not think of anything other than what they were told. They were to flee from temptation, which conditioned them to not stand against it. Zions say, "We sin, you flee or die."

Another way people were taught learned helplessness was to get them to lock themselves in their rooms to pray (even though you pray in public gardens - at night, while everyone else is defenselessly asleep). People were told what they did in their minds they did. It's like a home owner going in his house and saying over and over, "Please mow my grass. Mow my grass. I mowed my grass. I mowed my grass." When he steps outside his grass is even taller. So he repeats the ritual. When he steps outside again, he gets fined $1000.00 for not mowing his grass. The moral is: don't spend so much time in your room mowing the grass.

To get money for non-secular institutions or a rabbi's haircut, the zions again told everybody it was better to give than to receive, they would receive if they asked, but not to ask for money. The zions laughed and joked with them for awhile, then left. Later, the zions returned to ask for some money and told everyone that if they held anything back, the zions would no longer take delight in them. Also, because some were thought to be skimming funds, a zion iced them on the spot. It sent a powerful message that helped people pay their taxes. It was also an effective way of raising the zion's social status.

The zions said the sons and daughters of Go(I)d will not be given into marriage. They said to "keep" other men's wives true to them. Keeping is "having and holding." For those who preach chastity and the or the long form, holy pooper) or servant-servent-serpent (A servent is a peer-to-peer network node which functions as both server and client). Or change syllables: cartoon -> pontoon -> pontiff, urinal -> cardinal. Or homonyms, buy balls -> bibles. Or changing one word, get away from -> get away with. Or Chinese, Holy Spirit -> Hory Spilit. No...? Does "Sin grows old with the sinner" mean "Sinners don't die young?" Changing, "Do not curse" (before cursing a fig tree) to, "Do not swear an oath" (after) is shifting sands. Latin "beo" is "bless". English "bless" is from the French "blesser" which means "to wound" (as in battle).

Teach people that only fear (not caution or responsible leadership) is the beginning of wisdom. (Actually, love is the beginning of wisdom. The reason one might fear is to preserve what one loves.) Teach people they will be happy being cowards, so they will obey your authority and support the cause to enforce it. As has been said since Roman times, "cowardice turns to cruelty," z.b.: power hungry officials, brainlessly aggressive law enforcement thugs, contact tracers, etc. Conjure up an idol who will be killed and have his name written on the roads to send people into a wheeler-dealer wind-chase for his (unknown, swept-underthe-rug) name sake. Then, from above, he will take delight in fears as a dog savors the cringing of sheep. He will have his justice, but he will do it not. He will write it on his thigh, instead. Why? He won't spare himself. After they submit to cowardice, tell them not to let fear get to their hearts. Their perception of right and wrong will, unnoticibly to them, conflict with and turn on itself. They will vie for the title (banker's) "Faithful and True". Their continuous video game playing will get them to justify your "right to wage war". They will become useful, expendable, tare-rim idiots. Ask: Tolle in yer momash!

For instance, tell everyone not to hide their women or they will be fit for Sheol (the military). They will then expose their women out of fear and join the military to prove their courage.

(when they give speaches.)

(Political zions do this:)

Who's running now, sailor boy? See any real women wearing high heels in this picture? See any real men wearing high heels in this picture? Scholastics, like sports, are the same degree of difficulty for everyone. The amount of effort applied is what determines the Level of achievement. Few apply the mental effort needed to understand that. Those lauded as brave for not having the courage to adhere to scholastic standards will wrongly fear being called racists for rightly noting others' failures. Replacing Merit with Favoritism will eventually fill the ranks with retards. Then, you won't have to try so hard to look smart (or stupid, either).

Teach people some supernatural power will win the war for them, so they can claim victory.

Then, invite them to a rally and refuse to pardon them after they are arrested for terrorism due to simply following the lead of law enforcement while attending. Sheep led to slaughter. So sad. Tell them they will be happy for being imprisoned instead of being happier had they been cowards. (Bet dem goyem pray not to be led into temptation no more, huh.)

Or, pull an "evil-mother-teresa" stunt by telling the world that if it rewards you for a quaint little one-shot pop song, you will donate all the proceeds to the poor. Then, stash all the money (millions) in the vatican and "Warp Speed" boot the poor with blunt, dirty needles. Refer to yourself as "we" all the way home (to the bank).

You can tell everyone that the devil tries to convince them he does not exist. But, you know you will be out of business if you cannot convince everyone that he does. Thus, the jesuits. (Take it out on Satin and Lucy's Fur. If you miss, there's always Bathmat. What?) Really, what more does the church offer other than accept a Kingdom or darkness (somebody's clod-hoppers) will come upon you? Tell them they need to confess their sins in order to be forgiven. Once they confess, you will have something to hold against them. As for yourself, never confess to anything.

Tell everyone they need to make peace to be the sons and daughters of god and claim to be THE son of god. Tell them to end their geneologies (inheritances). Then, tell them wars are necessary, and you did not bring peace, but rather fire and sword to break apart their families. (Luke wrote the one who said that was over-whelmingly proclaimed a prophet. Come again. What?) You won't feel any pain at their divisions. Scare them into thinking they would lose their souls by gaining the world. Then, take away the peace they make, because they won't accept yours (LOL), and claim to have conquered the world as if you own it. The Romans who wrote it ate it up. The Jews, believing their families their salvation, rejected it.

And lastly, accuse anyone who is free of trying to be first. Then tell everyone to make a slave of he who would be first. Then proclaim yourself to be first. It's like telling everyone that self-exalters will be humbled, then proclaiming yourself divine. Duh! Talk about Ouroboros. Right in the a.

That's OK, you can convince people to do anything you want if you die and come back to life. Then, proclaim yourself the grand-master-ultimate-superlative (or m-word-expletive if you are BLM). It won't matter that none of your followers ever died and successfully came back to life. People will believe you, or be anathema, or anathemepark, or annathelma, or annunaki or get stolen thy "ght", "thou". Tell everyone their acts won't save them. Their virtue won't even save them. Only their blind obedience will save them.

Be sure to envelop your plans with all the sacred literature you previously stripped from the world. Fold your plans nice and neat. They'll slide right in. All who solve or expose your plot get either incarcerated like Julian Assange or suicided like Jeffery Epstein. Judas Iscariot is the symbol of that. (The prefix, "ab", means "away from". Absolution is offered to those who find solutions to the plot.)

After that, you can expect that some creep will re-edit those sacred teachings, add "kill-all-infidels", "child-brides-are-the-thing" and other crap, make his own religion and admit MAKE BELIEVE means SUBMIT OR DIE!

The Rapture - Here! Now!

the mentalities of children (whom they teach you to follow), nuns, priests, rabbis, imams, etc. act out the roles of "superiors" (to what? other teachers? parents?) while real parents look on as if watching movies. To zions cede the faithful their (having-given-) "birth-rights". So, where does that leave real mothers and real fathers in the real world? Silenced at school board meetings with no understanding of how they lost their parental authority. You don't have to deny people if you can get them to deny themselves. Words are meant to be pointers to that which exists. If all they point to are other words, they lack substance. They are not meant to be Trojan Horses in which to hide. Give everything you are told a reality check. Would a man who says, "Say what you mean," speaks in parables? Would a man who was against living by the sword claim to bring fire and sword? He who lives by thensword doesn't always die by the sword. He who loses, does. Would Pontius Pilate cave to some jews? Jew lives would have ended abruptly. A census ordering the population to disruptively return to their hometown never occurred in Rome. The Romans simply took a count from each province. Individuals were either citizens or slaves and could state from whence they heralded. The meticulous Romans record one census occurring in 6 C.E. in which no-one had to return to their birthplace. The biblical census, along with the nativity, is MAKE BELIEVE and is as credible as the story of a statue of the Virgin giving the Pope a black eye. Why did the biblical god condemn human sacrifice in the old testament and practice it in the new? Whom and for what did He have to pay? Was it to join a club? Is it all a carefully contrived plan to get you to expend your children for their wars, or is it a way to get you to accept killing a child and eating its flesh? Is it the same god? More likely, it is what zions try to convince you of your God so they can supplant your God with the leach called government. Be careful being generous. Recipients might think you give to cover something. You get nothing, while their gods get devotion for getting you to give.

The selfish search for power, glory and control by one individual over another is the source of all evils. The major western religions stem directly from angry men disputing their neighbors and are fronts for political views. Don't blind your bleedin' heart to the fact that immigrants will usurp control once you let them in, as did the jews, who with the asians, the Egyptians allowed as guests. They were driven out by the Moses, and the jews were granted sanctuary in Canaan, yet rose up and slew their hosts. Treachery spawned the term, Lord of Hosts. Evil men hide behind the religions they impose upon you to keep you from opposing them. The proclamation of oneself as "God" is the Lie of Lies. Quit following, like sheep into slaughter, those who do. Remove your mental and financial support from them. Behave yourselves and you won't need them. They gain control by making you (think you are) weak. Seek not glory; develop strength. The only people truly free are the ones who don't "turn the other cheek" to get it slapped, too.

Your merchants are not "great men". Your workers were. But, men demanded too much too soon. Your merchants enticed you into debt. If men had emphasized quality instead of rushing quantity and had not displaced the importance of providing a service with the desire to gain a position in a Kingdom, Heaven awaited. Kingdom should have protected Heaven. Kingdom hiding within Heaven is men in dresses. Kingdom overpowering Heaven is a path to Hell. Distinguish Heaven from your Kingdom, and you won't replace bliss with tyranny. Those who are dumbed down try to fill Heaven with possession and, thus, lose their greatness to merchants.

The truth we were made to believe has not set anyone free. The whole world is under lockdown. Forgiving everything and accepting everyone has made straight-A students fail as flunkies succeed. The concept of receiving for merely asking has spoiled entire populations, and has caused in those nations the same problems by the same ideology that Ipuwer spoke against in Egypt 3500 years ago. The Shepherd Kings rail against tyranny yet impose it if they prosper. All religions do. Don't lie. Have the lights of Judaism, Christianity or Islam ever truly dispelled the darkness? Only in the sense of guiding ignorant people to shun the affluence of those who have learned to exploit faith, most of whom worship utter gloom. They offer you either the world for your worship (via the devil) or promises for the same (via a Messiah at no cost to them). They won't allow you to save each other. Most, intimidated, choose the promises.

For hundreds of years, Rome promised lands to those they invaded if those peoples helped in Rome's conquests. For hundreds of years, Rome Lied. Since then, the remnants of Rome have promised Heaven on Earth to those who helped it expand. The reality behind the Roman Christ is a mixture of Mary's devoured son of Josephus' account, Jesus the insurgent Nazarene hung from a tree in Galilee, Eleazar crucified before the walls of Jerusalem and all who were martyred for warning that the embodiment of the Christ into one individual was the anti-Christ. The first church owners, clergy and saints were the same Romans who had recently exterminated over a million Jews. The first teachings were about forgiving the sin of rebellion by means of a "Sacrifice" of the Son (to cover for Titus) to God (Vespasian) to appease and quell a rising, potentially vengeful, Judaic tide. The Jews that obtained wealth under Roman rule went along with the Roman ploy and herded the general population into believing a "Yeshua Christ" - a good jew, who would reconcile the Romans and Jews on a greater scale than the creation of Serapis did the Greeks and Egyptians, pay for everthing, fish the world into paying as goes on, today and yet be true to Rome. And it was conceived seventeen centuries before the Hegelian Dialect.

The original authors of the 1st century wrote that none of the teachings should be coerced - forced on people. Within three centuries, the means of reconciliation was presented as truth, rejected, asserted and evolved into a mechanism of state control. The early Roman citizens did not know why they were being forced to accept a jewish god-man, when they already had gods and a few Caesars were also pronounced gods. Many works of dissent have survived that period. What happened to the original Christians? Theodosius and his Roman Catholics Labeled them "pagans", got them to always leave their door open and came upon them "like thieves in the night". By 395 C.E. Paul had Romanized Serapis, Mark's dime novel had displaced all other holee texts and Jesus Freaks had outlawed all other religions. The zions hid the facts Emperor Julian, one of the authors of the New Testament, renounced the whole concept and reverted back to paganism, and Constantine did not embrace the pacifist New Testament he ordered compiled as a form of controlled opposition to placate his newly conquered peoples and prevent their eventual uprising.

Day-ya-go. All dem birds wit one paper errplane. It doesn't work on everyone, but the vast majority it does work on, as long as they are making money, will overwhelm the minority that sees through it.

The Cross is the sign (or picture if you will) of a female. Of course some dude died on it. Females are the essence of ethereal Heaven; males are the substance of corporeal Kingdom. Women who dominate the Kingly world are like bull-dykes (not true sapphists) in men's shorts. Men who dominate the Heavenly realm are like transsexuals in women's sports. Zions feign to be children and fake doing the woman's part to stir you up with "BuyBalls (yours for words)"... um... acquire the "true seed". Our father = our inheritance (Odin, Hoden, Go(sodium)d). The Prodigal Son story ensures their being forgiven. They teach, "Call no man Father", and yet, worm the titles, "Father" and "Mother", for themselves. Assuming

The stories of preaching against anger and yelling at people and things, instructing others to pray in private and praying in the open where one's voice could be heard, preaching against usury and yet the demand to make money started as a parody to portray the jews as righteous on the outside, but hypocrites worthy of crucifixtion in their deeds, and to convey the message that, in spite of hypocrisy, the Jews could be spared by The Savior (Divine Rome). Take the story of yelling at a fig tree. It is written that Osiris could cause flowers to bloom and trees to bear fruit by his touch alone. Why could not Jesus? Because he represented Rome, and the fig tree represented the Jews. Why does the West center around the jewish religion even after the jews have been so vocal about exploiting the nations that liberated them in WWII? Because bankers own the jews and pay them to be the way they are. Western Leaders want paid, too. Piso hit the nail on the head in John 8:44 KJB. For two thousand years Christians have drunk the blood of human sacrifice splattered in a room thinking it was of Jesus. The necessitiy of sacrifice is always taught by those who accept the sacrifice. In the earliest recorded history, powerful ones, the "gods", enslaved the "Igigi" servers of a Goddess. Alla led the slaves to rebel. He was executed and his blood was mixed with clay by the Female Creator Spirit to form the first men. Since then, the "gods" take from the "alla" to buy a castle, while the "alla" get swindled into grazing next to the cattle in a field. Castle:cattle=royalty:loyalty. The "powers-that-be" understand that and will always exploit those that give them control. They strive to micro-manger (sic) everyone's affairs. We have to pray that the Lord won't lead us into temptation, but do lead us to green pastures. O.K. Dayago. Git to work. Rothschild took over the Vatican's financing in 1832. Shortly after, the Vatican's message turned from spirituality to labor-force industrialism. So, here, have a cow.

Oh! And one more thing. Heil-le-lu-yew! (or How-l-Jew-Ya.) For too long, We-the-Porkers (w)Allah(din) Yah-pigeon-roll. "We-we-we," say the PiG(zus)s (TPTB's goons costumed as Dweebs). "Beep, beep, beep," say the crowd plowing creeps (Dweebs disguised as color-of-law beasts on two legs).

The parable of parables concerning the tares among the wheat reveals the true agenda. Not only does it compare us to mere chattel, it allows for the continued existence of evils. It states that the tares (weeds that ruin crops) should be allowed to grow with the wheat and only be separated at harvest and burned by the angels. Do you think the wheat is going to throw a party? No, after suffering a lifetime of intrusion by the tares, the wheat gets shredded, ground to a pulp and tossed in an oven. The parable was written by the church founders to get accepted the constant presence of evil needed to justify the subsistence of government (the angels) and to use your belief in it as a buffer between you and them, so you would not take the law into your own hands. Look at what goes on today in cities where the "tares" are allowed to overrun the "wheat" which are "stalked" under the governance of Catholics and Jews. All your efforts to prevent society from crumbling are deemed "doing favors" in the eyes of officials who make you bide for justice until you and the matter are laid to rest, while they pull weeds in bed. Yet, so many faithful submit and wait for a Redeemer to come down from above, making it easy for TPTB to perpetuate the turmoil of those "beneath" them and to offer "up" one of their own dumb kings as a savior.

President Joe Biden pardons a career criminal turkey. Vice-President Kamala Harris boards an imaginary flight to Heaven in a newscast for the sheeple.

about being "caught with their pants down". Zions want you to not love the things of this world knowing they are of the Female Creator Spirit. Zions will accept your peace but never really bring any. They are always about, "What did you bring me". Zions smile in your face, tell you to stand and be counted, tell you there is sin in the body, project their sins at you, tell you to fall from temptation, virtue signal from where you fell and loop to smiling. They side with the sinner until the victim converts, then pardon the prodigal for serving that purpose. In order to further the efforts of "The Powers That Be" (the exploiters) to enslave you, you have to be incredibly dumb. If you can't think for and behave yourself, you will consistently eat what they feed you. "It is shit," replied the salesman. "Wanna buy a toothbrush?" The original Christianity was openly based on the make believe of being good. Belief in religion is not more important than belief in the goodness of which humanity is capable, except to those in power.

Then they tell you all are fallen from the glory of God, so you will leave it up to them to be the way to God. They tell you your sins are paid for, but you still have to do penance and stand, sit and kneel upon command. "Yuck, this free Chrislam-Jewce tastes like bereshit from the woods!" they cried out to the toothbrush salesman. Now, all religions before and since, have morphed into the worship of a central man-god which could be used as a front for a few to control and exploit the many. In 1789, the body of Pope Pius I was exhumed. With it were found documents describing the invention of Yashua by the Catholics to further their agenda. The name Yashua was changed to Jesus after Rome noted so many jews naming their sons after the Nazarene. Alla and his descendent, Jesus, physically fought TPTB who make them pay for it to this very day. The Jews rebelled the first time from 70-73 A.D., the second time (Kitos Rebellion costing 440,000 Roman citizen lives) and again (Bar Kokhhba) 132-136 A.D. The Jews were in need of mental restraint, so works were written that would appeal to their way of thinking. But, the Jews rejected them because they knew what came out of Rome, even though not written in Latin, was written by the Romans. Jews were given credit for writing those works, and now the Jews virtually own them. If the Jews had written them, they'd say, "For Jews Only!" The Jews said 100 years ago they were going to use people's own religions to enslave them. Guess what. Make believe should benefit, not intimidate. Being zionically assertive, greedy or cruel is no remedy for human transience. Neither is being a scapegoat. God is not fooled by banal sacrifice. The evil are.

Does it look like The-Powers-That-Be have been satisfied with the sacrifice of one individual? Do you really think you are going to taste victory by biting a zion hook and running with it? You are fooled if believing Kingdom is overrun by violence. Rather, Heaven is overrun by Kingdom. It is hard to shed the things that have been forced upon us since birth, until one sees the benefits of what we are to believe go only to those who wrote what we are MADE to believe. Come to your senses. Learn to distinguish what is valid in your scriptures from what was added for personal or political ends. Then, you will truly be set free (and enlightened). Then, you will appreciate it for what it literally is, a Good Story which everyone loves more than they do reality. May your dreams come true.

Zionism did not save Rome from the decline caused by its mimicking Shepherd-King philosophies. Nor did it ever convert the Jews to Roman ways as it was designed to do. Scripture provides comfort, but never a solution to real problems other than a Final Battle, and another and another...
